

THE CLASSIC COLLECTION

We show families how to find sanctuary in homes that breathe

By engaging one of Australia's leaders in sustainable housing you can be assured of thoughtful sustainable design, high level of inclusions and specialist craftsmanship, with the added incentive of bridging the gap between traditional 'project' home construction and bespoke architectural homes. Our homes have an exceptional level of inclusions and finishes as a base standard that you will find on the market, all with thermal performance and maximum energy efficiency of your home in mind.

Discover the Classic Series

A range well suited to the Australian climate and way of life, embracing the original features of a classic beach cottage, with simple organic box like volumes, sweeping skillion roof lines, angled feature posts and a mix of light weight cladding finishes. The home takes you right back to where the archetype began, the Australian coastline in the 1960's. It's low pitched roof even reminiscent of the white sails that filled our harbour and blue waters on sunny days. The recollection of features don't stop there, as you walk through the front door the interior of the home takes full advantage of the Australian lifestyle with striking natural timber and VJ lining details, white quartz polished concrete floors, built in bench seats for easy entertaining or casual dining and glass walls inviting gardens to enter the home from all angles. Fluid and passive orientated open plan internal and external living and entertaining spaces further showcases why modern efficiency and timeless trends of the Classic range ought to be a labour of love for all Australian homes. The Classic range encourages every family member to make the most of an active lifestyle.
