

DISCOVER THE EGRET

A classic replica encompassing original features from the traditional Australian beach cottage. The Egret achieves a 7.9 star-rating from thoughtful design considerations. The exterior of is finished with weatherboarding and sweeping skillions roof supported by angled feature posts, and the block has been detailed with a white picket fence. The interior flooring features chic, white quartz seeded polished concrete through the living space with the contrast of timber flooring in the bedrooms and studio. There is a separate self-contained space located at the front of the home offering a place for guests to stay, there is also an additional three bedrooms in the main living space. The large studio is fixated at the front of the home and is large enough to be practical for fitness activities, or can operate as an additional large study, media room or bedroom. The bedrooms offer the functionality of louvers to operate control of natural lighting, crossflow ventilation and privacy. The kitchen embodies a classic feature of three chunky natural hardwood posts aligned with the island bench, grounding the contemporary finishes of the kitchen. The exterior deck at the rear of the home links to the yard and pool, the perfect situation for social gatherings and entertaining family or friends. The Egret has been designed in mind with consideration to utilise natural lighting to brighten the entirety of the home and the open plan layout allows for cross flow ventilation; ultimately the ideal design for a classic home design that beneficially increases our green footprint.
