

DISCOVER THE PETREL

A mirage between the timelessness of the classic Australian beach house with modern efficiencies to achieve a 7.5 star-rating. The petrel exterior embodies white weatherboard and fibre cement cladding brightening the home and upholds an iconic low-pitched skillion roof lines with skylights. The interior features a clean polished concrete flooring seeded with white quartz. Operable glass walls afford views of the garden and pool from every angle and additionally inviting an abundance of natural lighting into the home. This classic home fits three minimalist bedrooms, where the master overlooks the pool. The kitchen showcases a modern splashback and the island bench has a screen of three vertical 200sqm hardwood post that elevate from the floor to the roof. In the dining area parallel to the kitchen is a built-in window seat and shelving with VJ lining. The open plan living connects the front of the home to the kitchen, living and dining area, and out to the backyard and pool. This design maximises crossflow ventilation for the ultimate cooling function and evermore defines a pressing layout for entertainment. The Petrel was designed in mind to achieved functional and affordable living and most importantly achieving a modern design outcome with a high level of finishes and a positive environmental impact.
